A Savage Battle Broken Up by a Claim of

CHICAGO, March 20.-The managers of the Western Base Ball Association clubs began their first annual schedule meeting here to-day. Chris Von der Ahe, Al Spalding, and Sam Morton are among the biggest base ball men present. The schedule is not ready yet, but so far as it has been completed it seems satisfactory. You der Ahe is working to have his West-ern club at home when his Association club is away, and Spaiding wants his Western club at home when his League club is away. It is likely that both will be satisfied when the schedule is presented.

THE CENTRAL LEAGUE.

BINGHANTON, March 20.—Representatives of the clubs composing the Central Base Ball League are in session to-day at the Hotel Bennett in this city. The object of the meeting is to adopt a schedule for the coming season's play, and to transact such other business as may come before the body. The representatives present are: President John W. Collins of Newark, N. J.; Secretary J. C., Kennedy of New York, D. J. B., Keller of Easton, Pa.; C. W. Reuter of Allentown, C. H. Meisel of Newark, P. J. Powers of Jersey City, A. C. Campbell of Wilkesbarre, James Donnelly, manager of the Wilkesbarre, James Donnelly, manager of the Wilkesbarre, James Donnelly, manager of the Wilkesbarre Club; W. C. Smith of Elmira, and L. B. Baldwin of Binghamton.

Manager Powers of Jersey City presented a schedule of games, which, after some discussion, was adopted. Secretary Kennedy reported that full rights had been secured under the national agreement, and that on and after May 1 $2,000 must be paid for the privileges thereby secured to C. H. Byrne, Secretary of the Board. Treasurer Campbell reported that all the clubs in the League had paid their guarantee and League dues. Messrs. Powers, Kennedy, and Baldwin were appointed a committee to draft an umpire schedule, and will make their report to-morrow.

Buffalo, March 20.—The International Base Ball Association met here to-day to receive the report of the Schedule Committee, which convened yeaterday. Quite a sensation was caused by the appearance of E. S. Cox of Toronto, the President of the association, who was supposed to have resigned since his recent failure and his connection with the broken Central Bank of Toronto, Mr. Cox occupies the chair at the meeting, and Secretary White of Utica is present. The other delegates in attendance are: Buffalo—C. W. Cushman and Manager Chapman. Syracuse—Austin R. Dickinson, B. Forbes, and Manager Hackett. Rochester—Manager Leonard and Secretary Wm. D. Deininger. Toronto—Manager Cushman, M. McConnell, A. McPherson, and B. H. Bennett, London—J. McIntosh. Albany—Manager York, Troy is represented by proxy.

Beyond adopting the schedule for the coming Season the Association did little business.

The Schedule Committee on Monday agreed to report in fayor of the adoption of one of three schedules presented, which is said to be the draft of Manager Chapman of Buffalo. The schedule was not satisfactory to all, but it was finally patched up. The Association will appoint umpires for the coming season to-day. THE INTERNATIONAL ASSOCIATION.

It is called "The Bathers." The hanging, which is high, has been happily managed, since it gives just that focal distance necessary not only to re-solve the painting into besutiful flowing lines and color, but to give the suggestion of vraisemblance to the scene. "The Lovera." by Diaz, has something of the same charm. The two figures scated in a wood, have all the suggestiveness necessary, but are not carried far beyond the artistic sense of merely line and color. In decorative effect as well as in imaginative charm is surpasses the more fully finished "Bather." from the Morgan sale. from the Fair," which brought the nighest price at the Spencer saie. It is a mellow piece of color, and is interesting as showing Troyon's methods. There are several small landscapes by Jules Dupra, one of surprising vigor and cheerful aspect with a rift of bright, luminous blue sky. There is a Courbet of importance, "A Mountain Torrent in the Vosges," painted with less impetuosity and in sevener mood than are most of Courbet's landscapes but of no less force. By Corot there is a small and delightful work." Near Paris." and delightful work, " Near Paria." The figure pieces comprise excellent examples of a number of the best known painters, and are what may be briefly called characteristic. The exception to these is "Apres le Ral," by Vollon, which, except in handling Apres is hat, by votion, which, except in handling, has all the nature of a surprise. Still, in costume he has taken up his lute with a won't-go-home-till-morning air on his genial but wearied face. The story is capitally told, but the case of the painting, the delicious qualities of the whites and blues of the costume, in color so unlike that which we have learned to secribe to Vol-lon's brush, gives an even livelier approval to work

By Gerôme is "The Sale of a Circassian Slave," belonging to that class of Gerôme's works to which the "Phryne" is assigned, interesting in story, correct in drawing, and lifeless in color. A large head of a dog and an interior of a Persian inn with even more beautiful reproduction of bine Persian tiles than was seen in "The Serpent Charmer," are also by Gerôme. By Knaus there is the most beautiful reproduction of the color of the control of t Charmer." are also by Gerôme. By Knaus there is the small head of a "Country Girl." a vivid bit of character in "My Dector." by Domingo, and two Bougercaus. "Resting." and "Venus Disarming Cupid," the latter a graceful composition. The Vibert, "The Painter's Rest." and "The Forbidden Books," by Lesrel, two monks absorbed in novel reading, are anecdotial works that long ago found appreciation. The delicacy of color in the Vibert disassociates it from his later works. There should be mentioned among this genre an unusually important Meyer von Bremen "In Which Hand I" and Bosch's "Sunday Afternoon During Harveat."

Among the American works there are two excellent examples of J. G. Brown, "The Musicians" and "Shooting Marbles," as also of David Johnson, "The Brooks at Byfield," and "The Meadows at Ramapo."

There are also two Bierstadt's. One of these is evidently a very early work. It is called "Early Western Life."

TUESDAY, March 20.

The action of the so-called Gould stocks dostroyed to a large extent to-day the better feel-ing regarding the stock market that was developed yesterday. The report of the Missouri Pacific system for the year 1887 has provoked severe criticism from nearly every quarter, and undoubtedly has caused liquidation in all of the securities of that system. The certainty of a reduction in the Missouri Pacific dividend has increased the unsettled feeling regarding all the properties with which Mr. Gould is identified, and, as if the situation were not already bad enough, a newspaper of notorious stock-jobbing proclivities aggravated it to-day by publishing falsehoods regarding the management of these properties. A difference of opinion as to whether the dividend ought to be declared at the usual time, but at a reduced rate, or whether that action should be post-poned until Mr. Gould could be heard from about the matter, was magnified into a serious disagreement. There is no disguising the fact that a lamentable lack of harmony exists between those who have been left in charge of those whose ability and cooperation have contributed very largely to whatever of success has been obtained in the management of the so-called Gould properties. As yet, however, this unfortunate condition of things has not resuited in an open rupture.

The speculative interest centred principally in Missouri Pacific, which was unusually active; in Western Union, and in St. Paul and Reading. There was no news affecting any of them; in fact, affairs affecting the stock market appeared to be practically in statu quo. and, as the market continues very narrow and ous question whether the professional destroyers of values can proceed much further before encountering a reaction. An examination of to-day's transactions indicates that the lack of confidence was not general, but was rather limited to the Gould stocks. They were about the only ones that sustained serious declines, and their course was responsible for the depression in the rest of the list. The market may be described, in a word, as a fresh expression of the reviving distrust of Mr. Gould's influence in cornorate management. There is no disguising the fact that the Missouri Pacific report for 1887 raises the ghost of the Wabash wreck before the holders of the Missouri. Kansas and Texas Company to fresh activity with the hope of effecting by a union of foreign and domestic stockholders an entire change in the directory of that company. And finally it has led some of the most conservative houses in the street o advise their patrons that those who invest in properties controlled by one who assumes o build up, but who invariably wrecks properties, deserve, in light of repeated experiences.

The fact cannot be disguised, and it seems time it was fully appreciated, that the trouble with Mr. Gould's enterprises is that he yields too much to his fondness for over-capitalization. It may be remembered that a strong in-clination in that direction marked his early business careor, and the figures of the bonded and stock liability of half a dozen of the largest corporations in this country attest his failure to check that early inclination.

Final sales compare with those of yesterday as follows: as follows:

Holders of over 75 per cent of the SERIES "B" BONDS of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company, having already accepted the terms of the Reorganization Agreement, April 3, 1888, is hereby fixed as the date on of lefore which all the above classes of securities must be deposited with DREXEL, MONGAN & CQ, 23 Wall st. New York in accordance with said agreement. Deposits after that date will only be received subject to such pensities as the committee may prescribe. On Series "B" bonds deposited now, interest during reorganization, as provided in the reorganization agree-ment, will accrue from May 1, 1888.

Further notice is given that the first installment of 25 per cent, of the assessment ou all classes of stock deposited under said agreement is hereby called, and will be payable on April 3, 1863, at the office of DREXEL MORGAN & CO. Copies of the reorganization agreement may be ob-tained on application to any of the undersigned.

DREXEL, MORGAN & CO., DEPOSITARIES. C. H. COSTER, R. J. CRONS, A. J. THOMAS,

TO THE STOCKHOLDERS OF THE RICHMOND TERMINAL

COMPANY. We are informed that, in spite of the enormous increase of gross carnings on its Danville and East Ten-nessee systems, the Terminal Company was compelled to borrow money in order to meet the payment of the January dividend on the preferred stock and the intersatury dividend on the preferred stock and the inter-est on its collateral trust bonds.

In the light of such facts it is evident that unless the stockholders at once take the control of affairs inte-their own hands, in the manner provided by law, the company may become seriously embarrased. The property should be managed by an experienced prac-tical railroad man of recognized ability, aided by an efficient Board of Directors.
